Malvasia de Sitges 2011

Jané Ventura has been producing Malvasia de Sitges on an experimental basis since 2004. As from the 2008 vintage it was incorporated into the blend of our Blanc Selecció 15 viñas.

Vines:

The grapes are from a small vineyard in Sant Pere de Ribes. we have grown Malvasia at Finca “Els Camps” and in 2009 we also planted it at Mas Vilella.

Wine-making:

The 2011 vintage was produced using four 300-litre French oak casks, in which the wine fermented at low temperature (16-17°C) and was aged for 4 months.

Tasting notes:

A straw yellow colour. Aromas of white flowers (irises) and citrus fruit against an exotic backdrop containing salty hints. On the palate, it has a full attack; it is dense, very fresh and long.

Label:

The Aloe symbolises the experimental character of this wine: it is a plant that dies once it has flowered, before being born again.

Grape varieties:
